Remember Your First Communion Class?

Do you remember what your life was like when you were in second grade? That would have been the time in your life when you were being prepared for your first Holy Communion. Do you remember your teacher? Mine was Sr. M. Pachomia, a nun from the order of Blessed Cunegunda (now 'the Franciscan Sisters of Chicago'). Sr. Pachomia left this world last weekend and returned home. I was privileged to be the minister of music at her funeral at Mount Alverna in Parma. There. Along with a few other sisters, family members, workers and guests, we gathered to celebrate the end of Sr. Pachomia's 94 years of preparation for her new life in eternity.

Last weekend we had the opportunity to hear our retired Bishop, Anthony Pilla, present an inspirational talk to the many ministers we have here at the Shrine Church. His focus was on the Eucharist, the essential place of that wondrous mystery in the life of a Catholic, and the capacity of that gift to change the world through our evangelization. His talk was inspiring and informative. Everyone who missed it missed out. Everyone who heard it was blessed.

Back in 1960 she was entrusted with the task of preparing my class for their first Communion I don't know if Sr. Pachomia had all those ideas in her mind. She was a great teacher and we were eager students. But, perhaps, those thoughts were to advanced for children to grasp? Perhaps the focus back when someone is 6 or seven years of age was a little less lofty? I can't remember. Back in 1960 did we see Holy Communion as we see that same gift today? Was the goal of a second grade Holy communion preparation class that of creating a group of Catholics who might change the world? Was Sr. Pachomia determined to be the person who would show us how to do it?

I think her concern might have been that we at least understand that in order to receive Jesus we needed to be good. I think her goal was to make sure we understood the sacredness of the event. I think she wanted us to understand that our first Holy Communion was not just about the party afterwards, the fancy clothes and the money we'd haul in. I think her actions as well as the actions of all the sisters and priests and anyone who took being a Catholic seriously taught us as much if not more than her words. We were nourished like little birds in a nest, prepared as much as possible to venture out into the world to then partake in food as we needed. The hope was that we would seek the Eucharist as the most important food. The dream was that together with each other and with our newest friend, Jesus, we really could change the world! Thank you, Sr. Pachomia! Thank you, Bishop Pilla! Thank you, Jesus! Now, let us live the Gospel and change this world as God would like!

BISHOP PILLA'S TALK ON THE EUCHARIST — PART I

When our Lord and His Apostles gathered for the Last Supper, He did extraordinary thing. He rose from the supper, laid aside His garments, tied a towel around His waist, like a servant in the household, got down on His knees before each of the Apostles and washed their feet.

The Apostles were astonished. Jesus explained to them, “Do you know what I have done to you? You call me Master, and you say well, for so I am. If, therefore, I the Lord and Master have washed your feet, you also ought to wash the feet of one another. For I have given you an example, that as I have done to you, so you also should do” (cf. John 13:12-15).

As you know, St. John is the only one among the Evangelists who mentions the washing of the feet and records the long and beautiful discourse of Christ at the Last Supper. His reason for doing this is clear: he lived longer than the other Evangelists; he had seen that many of the early Christians did not really understand the Eucharist and its implications to their lives. This is why he wanted to emphasize the connection between love and unity and the Holy Eucharist. The Eucharist is the great sacrament of love and unity which must be, as Christ Himself said, the most important and most characteristic quality of His followers: “By this will all men know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another” (John 13:35).

I would like to share with you my own experience. Shortly after I was ordained a priest I was assigned to St. Bartholomew parish. I met there a married couple. She was a practicing Catholic, he was not. He brought her every Sunday to the church, but he didn't participate with his wife in the Eucharist. He waited for her in the car. Once I asked him why he didn't come in and join her. He answered that his wife told him that they share in the Body and Blood of Christ. But he found that hard to believe, because he saw the Catholics who after the Mass talked ill one of another, gossiped, were very unkind to others even in the parking lot. If the Eucharist they receive is really Jesus Christ, they should have behaved quite differently. His remark is something to what St. John points out in his Gospel account.

By washing the feet of His Apostles, our Lord showed that what He had to say about love was more than beautiful words. Love means giving to others, doing things for others for others, putting oneself out for others, not regarding oneself as too important or too exalted to take time to listen to others. Love requires that we notice others and act toward them in such a way that they can see that we recognize their human worth and dignity. This love, a love which shows itself in action, is both symbolized and affected by the Eucharist. It is the Eucharist which binds the followers of Christ together in this kind of love. There is reason to believe that the original meaning of the expression “Holy Communion” was “our communion” with one another through Christ.” If many people today take the expression to mean “my communion with Christ” and only that, it is because they are not aware of the real meaning of the sacrament of Holy Eucharist.

Biskup Pilla o Eucharystii (1)

Kiedy nasz Pan i Jego Apostołowie zebrali się, aby spożyć Ostatnią Wieczerzę, uczynił On niezwykłą rzecz. Wstał od wieczerzy i złożył szaty, przepasał biodra, jak czynił to każdy służący w starożytnym domu, uklęknął przed każdym z Apostołów i umył im nogi.

Apostołowie doznali szoku. Pan wyjaśnia im: „ Czy rozumiecie, co wam uczynilem? Wy Mnie nazywacie "Nauczycielem" i "Panem" i dobrze mówicie, bo nim jestem. Jeżeli więc Ja, Pan i Nauczyciel, umylem wam nogi, to i wyście powinniście sobie nawzajem umywać nogi”. (J 13, 12-14)

Jak wiadomo, św. Jan jest jedynym wśród Ewangelistów, który wspomina o umyciu nóg i podaje zapis długiej i pięknej mowy Chrystusa podczas Ostatniej Wieczerzy. Powody jego postępowania są jasne: żył dłużej niż inni Ewangelści; widział, że wielu pierwszych chrześcijan nie rozumiało, czym Eucharystia jest i jakie są jej konsekwencje dla ich życia. Dlatego chciał podkreślić związek pomiędzy Eucharystią a miłością i jednością. Eucharystia jest wielkim sakramentem miłości i jedności, która musi być, jak mówił Chrystus, najważniejszą i najbardziej charakterystyczną jakością Jego uczniów: „Po tym wszyscy poznają, żeście uczniami moimi, jeśli będziecie się wzajemnie miłowali”. (J 13, 35)

Chciałbym podzielić się z wami doświadczeniem z posługi kapłańskiej. Wkrótce po tym, jak zostałem wyświęcony na kapłana, zostałem przydzielony do parafii św. Bartłomieja. Poznałem tam małżeństwo. Ona była praktykującą katoliczką, on zaś nie. W każdą niedzielę przywoził swoją żonę do kościoła, ale nie brał udziału w Eucharystii. Czekał na nią w samochodzie na parkingu. Jednego razu zapytałem go, dlaczego nie przychodzi na Mszę? Dlaczego nie modli się wraz z żoną? On odpowiedział, że jego żona powiedziała mu, że w czasie Mszy św. przyjmuje wraz z innymi Ciało i Krew Chrystusa. Ale on stwierdził, że trudno mu w to uwierzyć, bo widział, katolików, którzy po Mszy mówili źle o innych, plotkowali, byli opryskliwi, nawet już na parkingu. Jeśli Eucharystia, którą otrzymują jest to prawdziwy Jezus Chrystus, przyjmujący Go powinni zachowywać się zupełnie inaczej. Jego uwaga jest czymś, o czym św. Jan przypomina w swojej Ewangelii.

Myjąc stóp Apostołów, Pan nasz ukazał w praktyce to, o czym mówił na temat miłości. Jego przykład to coś więcej niż piękne słowa. Miłość oznacza dawanie siebie innym, robienie rzeczy dla innych, troska o innych; miłość to sprzeciwianie się myśleniu, że jestem kimś ważnym, poświęcenie swojego czasu, by słuchać innych. Miłość wymaga, abyśmy dostrzegali innych i traktowali ich w taki sposób, aby mogli doświadczyć, że uznajemy ich wartość i ludzką godność. Miłość, która przejawia się w działaniu, jest zarówno symbolizowana, jak i realizowana w Eucharystii. To Eucharystia wyrażona w praktyce miłości łączy wyznawców Chrystusa w jedno. Mamy powody, aby sądzić, iż pierwotnym znaczeniem wyrażenia „Komunia święta” była „komunia z bliźnim przez Chrystusa”. Jeśli dzisiaj wielu ludzi używa wyrażenia „moja komunia z Chrystusem”, a nie pamięta o komunii z innymi, to tylko dlatego, że nie zdają sobie sprawy z rzeczywistego znaczenia sakramentu świętej Eucharystii.

ST. STANS HISTORICAL FACT by Rob Jagelewski. Cleveland's first Polish newspaper was Polonia w Ameryce and was established in January of 1892. The weekly newspaper had its offices on East 65. The newspaper was purchased in 1897 by Theodore Dluzynski. A new press was bought and the newspaper offices were moved south of Harvard Avenue. The new owner succeeded in having a street parallel to the 6800-7100 block of Harvard Avenue renamed Polonia Avenue. The newspaper was sold in 1922 and became a Polish daily. This newspaper was now called the Polish Daily Monitor. This newspaper used to be sold in front of our church before and after Sunday Masses. The Monitor was sold again in 1925 to Władysław J. Nowak. He sold his grocery business and moved the newspaper offices to 6875 Broadway Avenue. This newspaper became the unofficial newspaper for Cleveland's Polish Catholic churches. The Monitor lasted until June of 1938.
