From River to Mount

As the Christmas season comes to an end this weekend we attend the Baptism of Jesus in the Jordan River, and we begin to hear Him begin His ministry in a very public way. The next three Sundays which will constitute 'Ordinary Time' between now and Lent will show Jesus moving from that river to the sea (where he recruits Peter and others) and finally preaching the Beatitudes on the mount. What a short time to get to know the Messiah before He is found again the following week in the desert and again on a mountain conversing with Satan. Together the arid desert, the high mountain, the river and the sea all provide wonderful stages for the unfolding story.

Water will soon be a major element in the rituals and traditions which will accompany us through the continuing story of salvation history. Jesus will refer the 'living water' in a few weeks in the middle of Lent. He will thirst on the Cross. When His side is pierced at the Crucifixion it will pour out along with blood. The feast of Divine Mercy (the Sunday after Easter) speaks of that water in a very special way. The rays which we have seen on the painting associated with the feast and St. Faustina's visions denote both Blood and Water. In her diary, St. Faustina writes the words dictated to her by Christ as follows: "The pale ray stands for the Water which makes souls righteous. The red stands for the Blood which is the life of souls. These two rays issued forth from the very depths of My tender mercy when My agonized heart was opened by a lance on the Cross. These rays shield souls from the wrath of My Father. Happy is the one who dwells in their shelter for the just hand of God shall not lay hold of him."

Water will be most prevalent during the Easter season when it assumes a prominent place in our liturgies beginning with the great service on the night of the Resurrection, March 22. It will mix with fire and it will be filled with the Spirit as it is poured over the heads of the catechumens then baptized. It will be sprinkled on all the baptized at every Sunday liturgy during that same season. That 'water which makes souls righteous' will flow from the pierced heart' and fill the pool with living water, with water which cleanses, blesses, renews.

That so much of the earth's water comes from the mountains to create the many rivers and streams teaming with life may or may not have been on Christ's mind when He used the hills as stages for so many of His actions. But we know the water which poured from the mount known as Calvary was certainly important.

When we look up at the Crucifixion scene which hovers above our Nativity scene, Jerusalem looking over Bethlehem, let us be reminded of that mountain, that water and the everlasting life which was its ultimate gift.

What happened at Jesus' Baptism?

Very often the question is asked: "Why was Jesus baptized?" With the asking of the question, there follows as if an objection to the question: "He didn't have any sin, did he? After all, baptism remits original as well as personal sin in adults at baptism. Why should he be baptized?"

The answer to that question lies in understanding what baptism is: what is its purpose and consequently what are the effects of baptism. Unfortunately, a good number of Catholics narrowly equate baptism with sin. It is true that baptism remits sin. However, baptism has to do with more than that. It has to do with a declaration of being sons and daughters of God. In Jesus' baptism a voice from heaven (supposedly that of God the Father) declared: "This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased." Baptism is an occasion at which God declares us to be not only his creatures, but also that we are incorporated into the very life of the most holy Trinity of Persons — Father, Son and Holy Spirit— and in the unity of their infinite being. Jesus, who took on our humanity, has made possible our incorporation into the Triune God's life through his suffering, dying, resurrecting and ascending into heaven. Jesus merited this generous gift for us, because we could not have merited (deserved) it by our good actions, no matter how many good deeds and of what great quality they might be.

God shows no partiality or favoritism when He shares His divine life with Jews and Gentiles alike. On the occasion of the baptism of Cornelius, a Gentile, the second reading from the Acts of the Apostles (10: 34b-35) makes this clear. The author writes: "I see that God shows no partiality. Rather, in every nation whoever fears him (namely, God) and acts uprightly is acceptable to him (namely, God)."

To be declared a son or daughter of God at baptism is not only to be given an honorary title but also to be given a mission. The mission of the baptized—including that of Jesus—is to realize that he/she has been chosen as a servant of God, who is Lord. In the words of the first reading from Isaiah (42: 1-4, 6-7) it consists in God putting His spirit in us to bring about "justice to the nations." In the Biblical use of the word, "justice" means that God wills to make right Himself the human being who has veered from God's ways. It is mainly God's activity and initiative rather than the work of the human being. In other words, God wants to have a right relationship with human beings, even when they have sinned and God is willing to make that happen through the suffering and death of Jesus, God's beloved Son. Jesus, who fulfilled his baptismal mission throughout his lifetime by his obedience to God, even to the death of the cross. Whatever Jesus did in his private life (up to the age of 30) and thereafter in his public life, he was always attuned to God's will; especially, when the cup of suffering and death was being placed before him: "Not my will, but your will be done." And he taught his disciples (you and me) to pray and will the same. "Your kingdom come, Your will be done."

The baptized (you and I) are able to accomplish Jesus' mission, because the Lord has called us, grasped us by the hand, formed us and set us "as a covenant of the people, a light to the nations, to open the eyes of the blind, to bring out prisoners from confinement and from the dungeon, those who live in darkness."

Chrzest Panski

Choc w polskiej tradycji spiewamy koledy i zachowujemy choinki w kościołach aż do 2 lutego, Niedziela Chrztu Panskiego stanowi liturgiczne zakończenie okresu Bożego Narodzenia.

Zarówno narodzenie Pana w ubóstwie jak i Jego uniznienie podczas chrztu w Jordanie, są wyrazem pokory Pana Boga, który dla naszego zbawienia posłużył się bardzo ubogimi środkami. Już samo Wcielenie jest dla Boga uniznieniem. Bóg w ludzkim ciele! Do dzisiaj prawda ta stanowi przedmiot zgorszenia dla wielu, którzy nie wierzą w Bóstwo Jezusa z Nazaretu.

Dzisiaj, w niedzielę Chrztu Panskiego, widzimy konsekwencje Wcielenia - Jezus staje wśród grzeszników, bo chrzest był przeznaczony właśnie dla grzeszników. Przyjmujący chrzest od Jana wyznawali swoje grzechy. Ewangelista opisując chrzest Pana zaznacza, że Jezus wyszedł z wody zaraz po chrzcie; Jezus nie wyznaje grzechów, bo jest bez grzechu. A jednak pod koniec życia zostaje zaliczony w poczet grzeszników. Wiszący na krzyżu Boży Syn ma po swojej prawej i lewej stronie zbrodniarzy. W ten sposób chrzest Pana jest już zapowiedzią Jego krzyża. Krzyż objawia paradoks: wywyższenie jest uniznieniem; uniznienie jest wywyższeniem. Jezus wychodzący z wody podnosi z sobą cały świat. Jezus znoszący hanbę krzyża zbawia cały świat. Dlatego Jan Ewangelista mówi o wywyższeniu Jezusa na krzyżu.

Chrzest Jezusa w Jordanie jest objawieniem całej Trójcy Przenajświętszej. Głos Boga Ojca z nieba wyznaje Jezusa jako Jego umiłowanego Syna. Duch Boży zstępuje na Niego w widzialnej postaci gołębiczy. Przypomina nam to o naszym chrzcie dokonanym w imię Ojca i Syna, i Ducha Świętego. Nasz chrzest stał się możliwy dzięki chrztowi, któremu poddał się Pan. Każdy znak krzyża w imię Trójcy Przenajświętszej, którym znaczymy nasze ciało, najlepiej używając świeconej wody, jak np. przy wejściu do kościoła, jest odnowieniem chrztu. Warto to czynić świadomie.

Dlatego cieszymy się chrztem Pana i darem chrztu dla nas, i należycie obchodzimy to święto. Jak? Grzegorz z Nazjanzu, biskup, odpowiada na to pytanie i do swoich słuchaczy kieruje następujące słowa:

Przed wszystkim pozostaniecie czysti i oczyszczajcie się. Bóg przecież niczym bardziej się nie raduje jak nawróceniem i zbawieniem człowieka, któremu cała ta nauka została dana i wszystkie tajemnice. I macie być jak źródła światła w świecie i sila życiodajna dla ludzi. Macie być jak płonące światła przy owym wielkim świetle z nieba i napelnieni Jego promienistą jasnością, jasnijacy pełniej i wyraźniej blaskiem Trójcy Przenajświętszej. Bo przyjdzie teraz, choć jeszcze nie w pełni, jeden promień jedyne Boga, w Chrystusie Jezusie, Panu naszym, któremu chwała i panowanie przez wszystkie wieki. Amen.

ST. STAN'S HISTORICAL FACT by Rob Jagelewski.

One of the biggest population centers in this area in the nineteenth century was Newburgh. It was more prominent than Cleveland. Newburgh was organized as a township in 1814. At this time it was bordered by Cleveland on the north, Warrensville Township on the east, Independence to the south, and the Cuyahoga River to the west. Mills built at Mill Creek spurred economic prosperity. An old coach road was cut through the Township, which became Broadway Avenue. Fertile soil promoted farming and waterpower enticed industry. The biggest industrial complex was the Rolling Mill where many of our parishioners found employment. In 1873, when our parish was founded, the center of Newburgh was Union Avenue on the north, East 93 on the east, and Cleveland on the west and south. Cleveland annexed portions of Newburgh in 1878, 1893, and 1894. Newburgh Heights was incorporated and South Newburgh became Garfield Heights in 1904.
