FAST AND ABSTINENCE IN LENT

Abstinence The law of abstinence requires a Catholic 14 years of age until death to abstain from eating meat on Fridays and on Good Friday.

Fasting The law of fasting requires a Catholic from the 18th Birthday to the 59th Birthday to reduce the amount of food eaten from normal. The Church defines this as one meal a day, and two smaller meals which if added together would not exceed the main meal in quantity. Such fasting is obligatory on Ash Wednesday and Good Friday.

Golgotha of the United States

I. Jesus is condemned to death

Lights, camera, action. The spotlight is on Jesus for a brief time. He says his kingdom is not of this world, then bows his head and remains silent. The microphones and reporters, frustrated, shove past him and run to all the chief justices and lawyers and lobbyists. The arguments fill tomes and empty mouths faster than the blindfolds can be applied as 'blind justice' is applied and everyone washes their hands with purex, Republicrats and Democans, ACL who? And the Religious Wrong....where are the answers when you need them? They all agree to disagree (they all realize they alone are totally correct and have the final say as to what is the real Truth) and sentence the Lamb to death. Electric chair (efficient) Abortion (legal, but 33 years plus a couple millenia too late), Injection (dramatic, but too slow for our television audiences), Cross (a religious symbol...well, we'll see if it will sneak by the censors)....what does it matter...he is confusing people and causing divisiveness and taking time away from watching 'The Apprentice' (sing together: "money, money, money, money")....The verdict is in: Deal or No Deal.... GIVE THE PROPHET A CROSS....my pizza's ready....(without meat...it's Friday, dude!!!...those 'all you can eat' fish fries are cool for the fasting crowd only...oink). In God we trust!!!!

"Behold, the man" (The Passion According to John)

Jesus stands before his accused. They've more or less decided, now it's time to move on. He can barely see them through his swollen eyelids, blood dripping from the crown of thorns jammed onto his head. The blood is drying over his face. Let's hope he's not poz. The Surgeon General can confirm all of the above. The Senate asks for a special Prosecutor. The President threatens a veto unless his budget to bomb the infidels to smithereens isn't passed! Polls are taken. First, a commercial. News report: Jesus is condemned to death. Back to regular programming: "Spin wheel spin!!!"

At the Shrine of St. Stanislaus people are simply amazed...for a little while. Whose sins are responsible for all this? Certainly not ours? Who are the bad people who have condemned Jesus to death again and again? Probably those other churches down on Fleet or Lansing or Broadway! Or those kids on the streets with their pants down to their knees. Or those yadda, yadda, yadda...

Quo vadis Domine? He comes back to Cleveland every day to be crucified again and again to prove his love. We need look no further than our own pews. We are guilty of sin. The Lamb will die for us until the end of time to try to create in us clean hearts.

We say: We adore you, O Christ, and we praise you, because by your holy cross you have redeemed the world. Lord, forgive us...we don't know what we are doing.

Lent and Baptism

There are two strands of thread that weave through the Lenten Season: (1) penance and (2) baptism. Both are inter-related.

All the baptized are obliged to penance that is, a renewal of mind and heart by prayer, fasting and sharing goods with the needy to become more like Jesus the Christ. This renewing penance should lead to the renewal of our baptismal promises at the Easter Vigil or on Easter Sunday. They are to be a re-commitment to witness in word and deed, that is, with our whole life, to our belief in and unity with the Trinity of persons, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit and to reject evil in all of its forms.

During the same Lenten season the catechumens (non-baptized) reach the summit of their preparation for baptism at the Easter Vigil. In the morning of the first Sunday of Lent they enter their names into the Book of the Elect in their parish church and in the afternoon their names are presented to the bishop in the presence of all other catechumens and candidates. This is their official public commitment to be baptized and from that time on they are called "The Elect."

During all of Lent (and hopefully thereafter) the baptized — you and I— are to pray for the catechumens and are to model the baptized life to them, helping them to understand what is expected of them and giving them the courage to live it fully.

Unfortunately, many Catholics do not associate Lent with their own baptism or with the baptismal preparation of catechumens. Lent should be a sacramental time because of the emphasis on the sacrament of baptism. The more we know about baptism the better are we equipped to live out our baptismal promises and help the catechumens.

When questioned about the meaning of baptism, however, some Catholics are not aware that the sacrament not only frees us from sin and enables us to be adopted sons and daughters of God but also we are "plunged" into the very death and resurrection of the Christ thus becoming members of the Church, the body of the Christ, and made sharers in the mission of the Christ, which is the mission of the Church. (Catechism of the Catholic Church, #1213). Every sacrament is a sacrament of the Church, filling the individual member and all members of the Church with the fullness of life which Jesus is and brought. Each sacrament, in similar and in different ways, enables the participants to become enriched as Church for the benefit of the Church and for the world at large.

In the introductory remarks of the baptismal part of the Easter Vigil, before asking the community members to renew their baptismal promises, the presiding priest reminds them that since "we have completed our Lenten observance, let us renew the promises we made at baptism ...and "have promised to serve God faithfully in his holy Catholic Church." Lent, baptism and church go together and are inseparable.

The Lord is giving us another Lent. After reading this article and upon some reflection, would you be able to explain in your own words what is the connection between Lent and baptism and why we renew our baptismal promises at the end of Lent? I hope so. If you need some help, I'd be willing to help you. Give me a call. Peace and Good! fr. Cam

NAKARMIC DUSZE

Wśród powiedzeń hinduskich znajduje się pouczenie: „Kiedy w życiu stracisz wszystko, a w twojej torbie pozostanie tylko dwa kawałki chleba, sprzedaj jeden i kup kwiat, abyś mógł nim nakarmić duszę”. Piękna sentencja i jakże głęboka. Przypomina ona, że człowiek ma zająć się nie tylko sprawami ciała i jego potrzebami, ale także sprawami duchowymi, bo one są równie ważne, jeśli nawet nie ważniejsze.

Opisane w dzisiejszej Ewangelii doświadczenie trzech umiłowanych Apostołów Jezusa: Piotra, Jana i Jakuba, zwane „Przemianieniem na Górze Tabor”, było specyficznym i fascynującym karmieniem duszy. W szesc dni po wyznaniu Piotra, że wierzy iż Jezus jest Mesjaszem, doświadczyli niezwykłego spotkania: obok Jezusa w chwale, jakby Jego straż przyboczna, stanęli bohaterowie Starego Przymierza - prorok Eliasz i prawodawca Mojżesz. A z obłoku, symbolu obecności Bożej, rozległ się głos: „To jest mój Syn umiłowany, Jego słuchajcie”. Zdumieni doświadczeniem, zastygli w uniesieniu i zachwycie, wyszeptali słowa o trzech namiotach, jakby chcąc w ten sposób przedłużyć wspaniałość zjawiska. I choć ono wnet przeminęło, nie zatarło się w pamięci Apostoła Piotra, który po wielu latach napisze w swym Liście: „I słyszeliśmy, jak ten głos doszedł z nieba, kiedy z Nim razem byliśmy na górze świętej” (2P 1, 18). Doświadczenie to było ważną obietnicą radości bycia z Panem, jeżeli mieli o nim milczeć, do czasu „zanim Syn Człowieczy nie powstanie z martwych”. Niewątpliwie niejedną raz wracali myślą do tego przeżycia, szczególnie w chwilach smutku i trudu, by utwierdzić się w swym przywiązaniu do Pana. To był ich pokarm dla duszy.

Życie ludzkie jest nieustanną wędrówką w nieznaną, która często łączy się z przeżywaniami ciężkich chwil. By w czasie jej trwania nie poddać się zwątpieniu, należy myśleć i sercem powracać do „pokarmu duszy”, piękna i dobra porożsypanywanego w naszym życiu, powracać do chwil uniesienia i radości, których doświadczyliśmy. To dlatego Bóg na Górze Tabor objawił niezwykle horyzonty życia wiecznego przed oczami śmiertelników, by były dla nich wyraźnym światłem, konkretnym znakiem, który stanie się źródłem ich wewnętrznej siły. My te siły znajdujemy w każdym eucharystycznym spotkaniu z Jezusem Uwielbionym.

Człowiek jest tak niekiedy zaabsorbowany sprawami dnia codziennego, że z trudem zdobywa się na spojrzenie na całość swojego życia. Chętnie uczymy się wielu rzeczy, najmniej zaś przejmujemy się tym, jak w ogóle należy żyć. Taka beztroska pietnował rzymski filozof i moralista, Lucius Seneka (zm. 65 r.), pisząc w swym dziele „O krótkości życia”: „Nic nie jest bardziej obce dla człowieka zajętego niż życie. Żadnej innej umiejętności nie uczymy się z większym trudem. Przez całe życie należy się uczyć życia - co może jeszcze bardziej ci dziwić - przez całe życie należy się uczyć się umierać”. Zauważ, że w „Listach moralnych do Lucyliusza” napisał: „Niektórzy dopiero wtedy zaczynają żyć, kiedy trzeba już kończyć. Jeżeli to uważasz za dziwne, to dodam coś, co jeszcze bardziej cię zadziwi: niektórzy przestali żyć, zanim jeszcze zaczęli”.

„Przemianienie” staje się pokarmem dla duszy tylko wówczas, gdy jest otwarciem się bez zastrzeżeń na działanie słowa i łaski Chrystusa. Wówczas rozpoczyna ono drogę do nieba, pomaga stawiać czoło przeciwnościom i pozwala spełnić wezwanie Ojca: „Jego słuchajcie”.
